

Public health card

Official sources separate healthcare entitlement from the regional card itself. In Spain the right to public healthcare may already exist automatically for some people, while others must request healthcare registration first. After that, each autonomous community issues its own health card, such as the SIP card in the Valencian Community.

Step-by-step

- 1 Check whether your right to public healthcare in Spain is already recognized automatically or whether you need to request it.
- 2 If your healthcare right is not yet active, use the official Social Security healthcare-entitlement procedure first.
- 3 Then follow the health-card process of your autonomous community: for example SIP in the Valencian Community, TSI in Catalonia, or Tarjeta Sanitaria Individual in Madrid or Murcia.
- 4 Bring identity, NIE/TIE if you have it, address proof such as padrón if requested, and any healthcare-entitlement or Social Security documents the region asks for.

Common documents

- 1 Passport or national identity document
- 2 NIE or TIE if already assigned
- 3 Proof of address if your regional health service asks for it
- 4 Healthcare-entitlement proof or Social Security evidence where required
